Description

The Award-winning MCR-C double column machining center was created to meet the demand of heavy industries for high power, high torque and high productivity. The exceptionally rigid spindle delivers powerful, 5-axis cutting on a thermally stable machine that provides efficient and accurate machining of large components. The MCR-C double column machining center's auto tool changer (ATC) and full array of available spindle heads (attachments) support the machining of all types and shapes of parts.
